THE OYSTER ACT OF 1874

Queensland Legislative Council

Brisbane: James C. Beal, Government Printer, 1874.

First Edition.

34cm x 21.5cm. 5 pages. Self-wrappers.

A Bill for the Protection of Oysters and Encouragement of Oyster Fisheries 1874. The second act of the Queensland colonial government to limit the exploitation of oysters in Moreton Bay, which prior to the first act outlawing the practice in 1863 had been removed by the schooner load and burned for lime. This second act implemented a system of annual licenses for bank oyster collection and cultivation, and leases for lucrative dredge oysters.

1887 REPORT ON THE OYSTER FISHERIES OF MORETON BAY

Cecil S. Fison

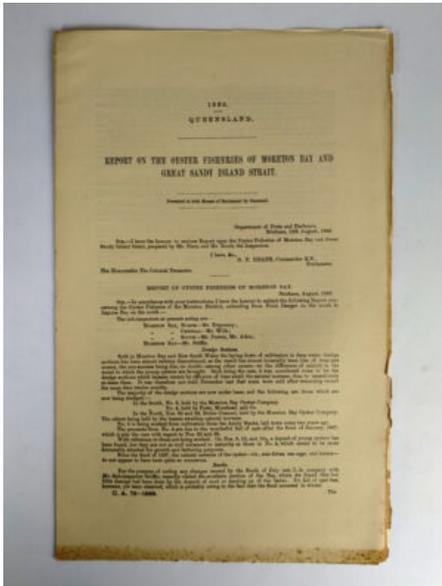

Brisbane: James C. Beal, Government Printer, 1887.

First Edition.

34cm x 21.5cm. 15 pages, 1 diagram, 3 maps (2 folding). Side-stapled self-wrappers.

The 1887 report to the Queensland Parliament on the oyster fisheries of Moreton Bay, stretching from Caloundra in the north to Southport in the south. The report is further extended with reports on Queensland fisheries and oysters in the Maryborough region. The 1887 report came 1 year after The Oyster Act of 1886 which outlined transferrable leases for the bank and dredge collection and cultivation of oysters in Moreton Bay and attempted to make the industry more sustainable by introducing measures to stop the naked exploitation and then abandonment which earlier leases suffered from by less forward thinking license holders. The bay was divided into numerous dredge sections and portions of bank, and now having been in place since the Oyster Act of 1874 and with Fison settled into his role he largely reports on various developments related to the leases. Includes a map of the fishing area around Stradbroke, a diagram of fishing nets used in Queensland 2 large fold out maps illustrating allotments in the central, northern and southern parts of the bay.

Minor foxing and wear. The 2 folding maps have torn loose at the staples. Very Good Condition. $100.00 AUD.

1889 REPORT ON THE OYSTER FISHERIES OF MORETON BAY

Cecil S. Fison

Brisbane: James C. Beal, Government Printer, 1889.
First Edition.

34cm x 21.5cm. 5 pages. Self-wrappers.

The 1889 report to the Queensland Parliament on the oyster fisheries of Moreton Bay, stretching from Laguna Bay in the north to Point Danger in the south together with a report on oysters in Maryborough with tables of licenses and returns. The 1889 report came 3 years after The Oyster Act of 1886 which outlined transferrable leases for the bank and dredge collection and cultivation of oysters in Moreton Bay and attempted to make the industry more sustainable by introducing measures to stop the naked exploitation and then abandonment which earlier leases suffered from by less forward thinking license holders. The bay was divided into numerous dredge sections and portions of bank, and now having been in place since the Oyster Act of 1874 and with Fison settled into his role he largely reports on various developments related to the leases.

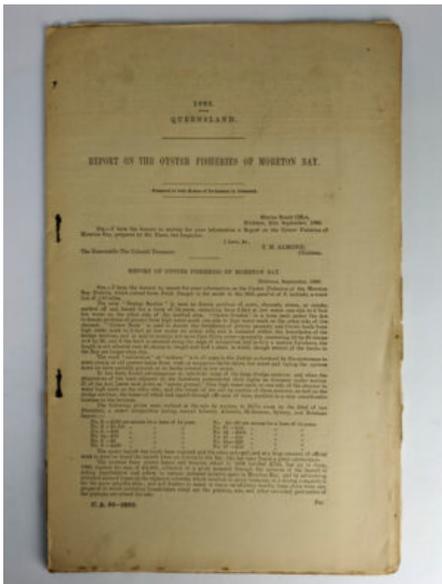

Minor foxing and wear. The plate with the crustacea and clam is loose and has a single misfold. The Maryborough region map has torn at the staples and is loose. Very Good Condition. $50.00 AUD.

1900 REPORT ON THE MORETON BAY OYSTER BEDS

James R. Tosh

Brisbane: Edmund Gregory, Government Printer, 1900.
First Edition.

34cm x 21.5cm. 4 pages. Self-wrappers.

The 1900 report to the Queensland Parliament on the oyster fisheries of Moreton Bay by Marine Biologist James R. Tosh. A brief report in which Tosh makes known he believes a viable industry could continue and indeed Queensland oysters could supply the whole country, but only if serious action is taken to remedy the industry. He reports on the Brush and Mud Worm Diseases and numerous issues plaguing the industry, though notes that due to lack of time there are many things which remain to be inquired into.

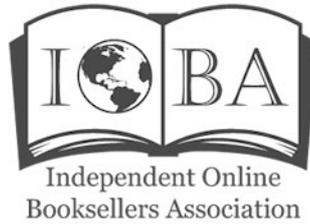

Minor foxing. Minor chips and tears to edges. Very Good Condition. $50.00 AUD.
